7th August 2015

InfraPPP Advisory Services shortlisted for new tenders in Africa and Latin America

- InfraPPP Advisory Services is submitting final proposals to multilateral institutions in The Gambia and Ecuador.
- InfraPPP aims to work in Latin America and for new multilateral institutions.

InfraPPP, the PPP advisory firm launched by two ex-executives of European PPP developers (Ferrovial, FCC and Iridium-ACS) and Strategic Consultancy firms (McKinsey&Company) has been shortlisted and is submitting final technical and financial proposals to the following tenders during August:

- Detailed design and Toll bridge management in The Gambia: to set a new tolling mechanism in the new bridge been currently built over the Gambia river
- Diagnosis of financial condition, four year capital investment plan, and transaction advisory services for the metropolitan district of Quito, Ecuador

Additionally the company has presented offers to collaborate with larger international teams in other PPP and infrastructure-related consulting assignments in Latin America countries, such as Peru and Uruguay.

InfraPPP is currently working in consulting assignments in Ghana, for the Ghana Commercial Agricultural Project, an agency funded by the World Bank, and in Cotonou (Benin) for the Islamic Development Bank. The company has identified Latin America as a key territory for its future growth and is aiming to win new projects in countries such as Colombia, Peru, Ecuador, Uruguay and Bolivia.

Jose de la Maza, Managing Partner of InfraPPP, commented: “Having worked for the World Bank and the Islamic Development Bank in Africa, we are in a clear growth mode, broadening our aims and objectives to work not only in Africa but also in Latin America and expand our client base with new multilateral institutions such as the Inter-American Development Bank and The United Nations Development Programme”.
